

A Brief Guide for ACNpA Attendees

Thank you for attending the 2025 ACNpA Conference. The following brief guide has been prepared to help you get the most out of your conference experience.

For all conference information, including program updates and answers to frequently asked questions visit www.acnpa.com.au/conference2025

1.) Prepare YOUR program

Familiarise yourself with the conference program. The program has parallel sessions with a mix of session types (e.g., workshops, keynotes etc). For more information about program content, select your “must-sees” from the abstract booklet when available from the conference website. Don’t forget to mark event calendar with our social and networking events!

If you are also speaking at this event, check out our Guide for Contributors and our Guide for Speakers on the conference website. If you are a conference volunteer, when available, check out our Guide for Chairs, Guide for Poster Judges, and Guide for Reviewers on the conference website.

2.) At the conference

Event check in is at our conference registration desk. The desk will remain open during the event for any event-related questions. Opening hours are in your conference program.

Session materials, such as slides, will generally not be provided by us, however you may contact presenters directly. We provide materials for selected sessions only (e.g., workshops), if supplied to us by presenters. You can download these materials when available from the conference website.

3.) After the conference

ACNpA will email registrants a certificate of attendance. Provide feedback by completing our post-event survey when it becomes available on the conference website. This survey will be open for approximately 2-weeks after the conference. The 2024 feedback shaped your 2025 program: what do you want for 2026? We look forward to hearing from you.
